

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

Effective communication is the cornerstone of personal and professional success. The Associate of Arts (A.A.) degree program in Communication at CCM begins with a strong foundation of basic skills that are then applied to advanced studies in communication and media theory.

From culture and entertainment to public relations, advertising, journalism and media production, this program prepares students for excellent career opportunities, including:

- Advertising & Marketing (Sales & Campaign Development)
- Film (Film History, Screenwriting, & Production)
- Multimedia Journalism (Multimedia Writing, Reporting, & Editing)
- Public Relations (Promotion, Strategic Communication, Political Communication & Crisis Management)
- Social Media Management (Network Development & Viral Marketing)

WHY STUDY COMMUNICATION AT CCM?

All program-specific courses in the Department of Communication are taught by full-time faculty with outstanding credentials and noteworthy professional achievements. Our professors regularly present their work at academic conferences, publish in peer-reviewed journals, edited books and other scholarly sources. They bring a wealth of experience to the program that translates into workforce preparedness for students.

In addition, newly renovated student facilities and workspaces provide students with professional experience right in the classroom. Students work in a state-of-the-art, multi-purpose journalism classroom with access to the full Adobe suite. All Communication students have the opportunity to work in the Alex DeCroce Media Center. The facility features high-definition technology, a digital media editing classroom, a scenery work room, two studio control rooms, a “green room” for guests, and separate teaching and

TRACKS (SPECIALIZED COURSES OF STUDY)

Public Relations Track:

The public relations track prepares students for strategic, crisis, and organizational communication in the workforce. Through this course of study, students will gain a better understanding of media relations through analyzing case studies and research that will equip them for transfer or internship positions in the public relations profession.

1. Restricted Elective #1: COM 102: Advertising & Society
2. Restricted Elective #2: COM 103: Introduction to Public Relations

Note: You must see a faculty advisor to plan your sequence of courses. For the most up-to-date listing of courses, see the Curriculum Checklist for this program on the CCM website at www.ccm.edu/checksheets.
