Bio:

Fine art has always been a passion of mine. While I love to draw for fun, I often find myself drawn towards practical applications for my creativity. I am more likely to try to replace a broken zipper, or repair a bookcase than buy a new one. Instead of buying a giant squid pillow, I would enjoy making one even more. I see design as the best of both worlds in terms of my interests. It combines my love of creating things with my desire to make those things functional - and sometimes just fun.
