

Martin Pumar Carrion

Before choosing Architecture as his major, Martin visioned himself in the Business field. Without any experience in the art/design industry, he decided that Architecture was something that he wanted to do for a living. His imagination and inspiration have no limits when he is thinking about designing new things.