Chemistry Student receives award

County College of Morris student Randall Kohn of Chester recently received the 2008 CRC Press Chemistry Achievement Award by Taylor & Francis Group, LLC in recognition of outstanding scholastic achievement in chemistry at CCM.

For more than 50 years, the CRC Press Chemistry Achievement program has been in place to encourage and inspire recipients and their schools to enthusiastically pursue scientific excellence. Kohn was given a complimentary copy of the CRC Handbook of Chemistry and Physics, 88th Edition.

Kohn works in the CCM Science Resource Center where he tutors students in chemistry. Professors describe Kohn as an excellent student and role model who actively forms study groups to encourage his peers to do their best in chemistry.

The first, entitled Preventing Sexual Harassment replaces an existing training program currently in use at the college while the second one called Preventing Employment Discrimination is a new offering to employees. All full-time employees hired after June 19, 2008 will be required to complete both programs. Either program can be accessed on Spider.
- ◆ The cut-off stipend payments to employees for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2008 is Monday, July 21. This applies to services performed prior to June 30. These expenses will be charged to the 2008 budget. If you have any questions, contact Ron Pluskota, ext. 5113.
- ◆ A walk-in advisement session for returning/continuing students (not new students) is scheduled 12 - 6 p.m. on July 22 in the SCC 221/233 (collapsible conference rooms). No appointment is necessary. Once students are advised they will be directed to register for classes using WebAdvisor; this is NOT an in-person registration.
