CCM Documentary on Faculty Artist Featured at Film Festival

Saturday's MorristownGreen.com Film Festival will give those in attendance a chance to view some exceptional documentaries while in a fun beach party setting. One video in particular explores the artistic talent and artwork of Todd L.W. Doney, professor of Visual Arts at County College of Morris (CCM).

A joint production of the Media Center and Department of Communications and College Relations at CCM, Nature Sublime: Landscape Painting by Todd L.W. Doney shares insights into the artwork of Doney. In the documentary, Doney talks about what he seeks to convey in his landscapes, his particular style of painting and his inspiration: the sun, light and color of his backyard, New Jersey's Great Swamp.

Nature Sublime is eligible to win the People's Choice award – voted on by the audience – and the Critic's Choice award – chosen by a panel of filmmakers and film buffs. Find out more about the film festival, which starts Saturday at 6 p.m., and the video at <http://tinyurl.com/l7jggqe>.
