JACK KENT COOKE FOUNDATION HELPS COMMUNITY COLLEGE STUDENTS EARN BACHELOR'S DEGREES

Alejandra Linares, an industrial design student at CCM, knows that to advance in life she needs to take advantage of the opportunities that come her way. As a CCM student, her latest opportunity has come in the form of being named a semifinalist for a Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Undergraduate Transfer Scholarship. If selected as a transfer scholarship recipient, she will receive up to $40,000 per year for up to three years to earn her bachelor's degree.

A resident of Livingston, who was born and raised in Mexico, Linares came to CCM after moving to New Jersey because the college offered the major she wanted to pursue. Little did she know then that she might have the opportunity of being awarded such a generous scholarship.

"Honestly, this scholarship will change my whole life," she says.

"We are so proud of Alejandra, her success here at CCM and the strength of her commitment to pursuing a high quality education to improve her life and the lives of others," says Dr. Anthony J. Iacono, president of CCM.

Since 2011, three CCM students have been awarded the Jack Kent Cooke Undergraduate Transfer Scholarship. If selected as a finalist, Linares would be the fourth.
