

Phebe Kressler Artist Bio

Phebe Kressler was born in and grew up in New Jersey. She later attended Morris County College in a pursuit for an associate in fine art degree after studying art throughout high school. During high school Phebe found herself spending most of her time volunteering in the local community; she worked frequently at the local library, at her church, and within the school. Once started at college, she continued working at her church while also running a small pet sitting business. Phebe worked on art whenever she could- doing commissions and freelance work on the web frequently between work and school. Phebe has plans to finish at County College of Morris in Spring 2020, and will transfer to Savannah College of Art and Design in the following Fall semester.
