description:

Nature has driven my art. The spectacular events that can be seen in nature, it has inspired me to interpret and produce work that gives the viewer that same feeling and satisfaction that is often associated with the awe of an amazing landscape. With this in mind, I use a variety of colors and techniques to produce impressionistic landscapes that portray a feeling of memory. This gives the viewer enough information to process what they are looking at without overwhelming them with high amounts of detail. I hope that my work creates a nostalgic feeling of seeing something stunning in nature to the viewer.
